“ AJ was an inspiration to us all in the makeup community. I met him when he first started his makeup line and out the gate, the products were high-end luxury fabulousness. I was not only sold on the products but I was sold on him. His kindness, sweet personality, and willingness to share tips and tricks. He will be missed in this world and in this space. He had so much more life and light in him. It is heartbreaking that that is gone. AJ, may you rest in peace, and may your family find the peace they need. May your legacy live on!
Love...L.J Hill.

“ Sending my deepest condolences to AJ's family. He was such a luminous human being who I am so thankful to say I got to spend some wonderful moments with this year during the shooting of BP2. We had some deep and powerful conversations that showed me how special and kind this talented man was. Our last moment together last month, I gave him a thank you gift and he gave me a beautiful set of his gorgeous brushes from his newly launched line. We parted with love and blessings. I will always cherish that. Gone too soon. Too too soon. Such a talent, such a beautiful soul. 'May flights of Angels guide thee to thy rest.'
Blessings, prayers and so much love,

“ ‘2017’ The year My MR Hubby introduced us
@ajcrimson 🥰❤️

He was driving too an event on La Brea, being the amazing Husband he is and always supporting my Artistry he popped in. You helped him pick makeup, and brushes from ur line for my kit . When he came home and shared his experience, I was in shock saying “ Do you know who you just met and spent time with “ after that I stopped in and met you for myself, the most incredible experience. So down too earth, so human with a smile and laugh that lit up every room you entered. From then on, I went too tons of events supporting you as you supported me reposting etc . You’ve mentored so many artists like myself, teaching us too think outside the box, the importance of skin etc. I’ve never used another foundation other than ur artist kits and now using them on my clients will have a whole new meaning . Even though we left LA for San Diego, & you left for ATL we still kept in touch . When we had our Son Austin Jaxxon, you were so excited for us and I told you we call him “AJ” for short a twist on “Alex JR” (Hubby’s name) you loved it .

We just messaged last week, I’m heartbroken 🥰😞 just isn’t fair and doesn’t seem right at all. Thank you for sharing your gift with us all, you are irreplaceable. I’m choosing too remember you like these pics of us. Fun, full of life, with that perfect smile. May you live on through every artists who uses your techniques and products. Sending so much love too your family. Love you so much AJ☐ I’m so sorry this happened too you 🥰❤️ Sending your family so much love . Fly High Friend, and Thank you for blessing the World with your presence .

“ *AJ,
Hi my friend.
You were always such a bright light. I remember so many fun moments in the glam chair with your beautiful face staring back at me while you worked your magic. Your gift was not only in your artistry, but in your whole presence. You always made me feel so comfortable and confident. Your nurturing calmness and wicked, quick, dry, sarcastic sense of humor, made being with you such a fun and enlightening experience every time. You will be so missed, as you were truly one of the greats. You always had an angel aura in real life, and now you are everyone's angel.
Love you always,

“CELEBRATING YOU”

*AJ, you embodied an essence of light, brilliance and REAL LOVE. You exemplified grace and integrity. You once shared, What do I want to leave behind? It really was...."My Name"
It is strong enough,
It is amazing enough & I am enough!
It's going to be called @ajcrimsonbeauty and that's what happened!
I knew from 2015 that you had a POWER PLAY, & created a glorious line. Let me speak for many when I tell you, you SLAYED IT! My heart is heavy, and I have to embrace the time that was given. I feel so loved to have graced your presence. Your smile, your laughter is preserved in our hearts. You lived your dream, you served your purpose. Even though, I seriously want to GO OFF because of your demise, Instead I'll work on a POWER PLAY, just like you would want me to do! I'll never forget what you poured into me, your love is tattooed in my heart. The truth remarks you'd make and I couldn't wait to SIPS TEA as you shared another joke. There's NO EXPLANATION, to why, you're gone so I'll just wait to embrace you in my dreams. I'll cherish the vision of you standing at the head of the table calling my name to come forth. I am so grateful that I was fortunate to learn from you! Checking me unconsciously, lol and complimenting me on my artistry and fashion. I'll love you always and miss you! -Crimson Rose*

@ajcrimson accomplished many things, he wore many hats. He blazed his own trail. He was/is a massive giant in the beauty industry. He stepped out with not much to conquer his dreams in Los Angeles. One thing that he did that spoke volumes was his love for up and coming artist. This angel would choose a few MUA's and he traveled to their state and met them in person. Not only did he use his own funds, he helped them perfect their skill of artistry. He'd tell me that he didn't want to just have another class he wanted to do more! He'd ask me my thoughts. He ask me what I needed. He'd sit and talk for hours on his sip and paint lives as he'd give tips and correction about makeup. You'd think his mentees would be so thrilled to see him, he'd be just as happy maybe even more. He would share his story and we'd listen like little kids absorbing his knowledge. We'd cry telling him how grateful we were to grace his presence. AJ would always be so grateful! He'd make it his duty to give you his heart of thanks. He loved his line because it was his baby! He cared about our complexion and wanted us to have fabulous shades. ajcrimondualcremefoundation

Lips: No Shade, Ruby Who, Sip Wine, Round 2 just to name a few. He wanted to leave behind his name because it was strong enough! It'll forever live, @ajcrimsonbeauty I'll love you for a lifetime and beyond AJ. 💎

“ I meet AJ in the early 2000's. He was new to NYC, excited to be in the industry and making waves. We crossed paths all the time backstage at 106&Park, Award shows and major red carpet events. AJ always would call me big sis because I'd been gaining some traction in the makeup industry at the time and was working with a lot of high profile people. AJ sometimes would refer his beloved clients to me and would always refer with instructions lol. I remember doing Latoya Luckett for him several times and he would give me some critiques which I would not always take graciously. As time passed abs he relocated to LA and then Atlanta I wouldn't see him as much on the scene but when I started my brand we would see each other several times a year at The Makeup Show. It would be there where we would take a moment to hug, catch up and pour positive life messages into one another. AJ was a champion for me and for any Black creative. He spoke life into my brand many times even when I was at my low and trying to conceal my sadness in LA in 2014 I remember we talked for a while about paving and making a way for Black creatives in our generation and some of the learning curves and hiccups we both faced. AJ was always positive, upbeat and energetic. A true pioneer never taking NO for an answer. He would often say ASHUNTA there's always a way. We didn't speak all the time due to life taking us different directions but when we did speak it would be meaningful uplifting conversations and when he called me big sis I knew he meant it. He was my little brother in beauty. In one point t and time we shared so many clients and he never poisoned or manipulated them to think anything other than that they were in capable hands with me when he wasn't available. Our industry needed him for so many reasons. He was the glue that helped to being together artist and shut down negativity. He was a force at the makeup show on stage and at his booth always pouring into up and coming talent. AJ never didn't have enough time to say encouraging words to anyone. We always at the beginning of every makeup show would find our way to one another's booths to hug and catch up. We would snap selfies or do videos and when we *spoke on stage we would always stand to catch one another's platform educational moments. I'm going to miss my little brother in beauty. What a blessing he was to have to me, to our industry and to the world. A beautiful beaming pure light soul who only encouraged us all to be our best.

Love you AJ rest well King.*

“ What an incredible man AJ was. And so many of us who were a part of his beauty industry family — as students or customers — found him to be just as many others who have known him longer have described. His spirit was generous; his character solid; and his business acumen was stellar. So many of us owe what we have become as artists and business men and women to AJ. He understood how costly this business is so he helped us achieve success by simply being compassionate. And I pray that we all can remember one memory with him that will sustain us forever.

“ From the very first time I met Anthony, I knew that he was going to be someone special in my life and as well in the world. His positivity, charisma and zest for life was infectious from the very start , he uplifted you and made you want to be nothing but your absolute best self when around him. At the same time, he was a kindred spirit, one who you knew would be there for you in your time of need, but at the same time would check you when you needed to be checked. A deep void will be left in my heart that will never be filled with his untimely passing, and I send my deepest condolences to his family and loved ones in this most sad of times.
