“ When I received the call I never thought I would be told you were gone. It was so shocking and painful. I stated to remember when we met and quickly we became family/friends. I'll always remember loving and generous spirit. You were always giving and sharing love. You shared your home so often with me. I hold close in heart memories of the beautiful dinners, the goodies bags you sent with candies included. You were so loving, patient and a true friend. You will be so missed and remembered with LOVE! I thank GOD for our meeting and times spent together.

God bless your family and many friends who will remember you with love.

Grandma Barbie, your last moments with us were happy and full of laughter. To hear you are gone is like a trick, I'm still waiting to hear the words "got yah!". You were a great mentor to many. It is unbelievable to all of us. Up to late Monday when we spoke, it was sleep that ended the conversation. You sent me to bed but without notice; that this would be the last chat. Miss you Barbie dear! Sleep and take your rest.

“ Never would of thought this day would come this soon. You loved me unconditionally without question or judgment. I was just saying I wanted to come see you. After I heard you were sick and in the hospital I called every hospital in Detroit looking for you until I finally got you. We had our moments where you just reach out to me and vice versa. I will forever cherish the love you shared and I will always remember your words whenever we spoke " Leslie mi Luv yah Always"... I will love you always mummy. Til we meet again. Sleep peacefully knowing we got your baby.

“ Auntie Jean, I still can't believe you are no longer with us. Throughout my childhood you was a constant in my life and as I grow up, I come to depend on you as an advisor, confidant and a friend. I will miss our long talks, sharing recipes and most of all your laughter. Losing you is like losing a mother. I know you are looking down on us from heaven. God has called you home and I know you are at rest in his arm. Sleep on Auntie, you are missed I will cherish the memories we share and promise that you will always be in my heart.
