“ He gave of his time and his talents! Earl was just enough older that we looked up to him when he insisted that we participate in youth activities at Wisconsin Avenue Church of God. A contemporary of his sister, Essie Ruth (Dennis) Binion, I spent time at their home when we were teens. Bruce, as we called him, even arranged for us to attend the gathering in June at Cobo Hall when Martin Luther King, Jr. gave his “I Have a Dream” speech in Detroit.

When our family needed electrical work done on my mother’s cottage on the West Middlesex Camp Ground, Earl did the rewiring and put in an air conditioner. Thankfully, the last weeks of her life, my mother went to her cottage because she knew it would be a pleasant place to be, even in August.

So, though it’s been years since I’ve seen Brother Earl, I have fond memories of him and send sincere condolences to the family.
