*I miss you already my sweet loving sister, Frances.
I miss calling you and you calling me.
I went to visit Gwen yesterday and I missed picking you up to go. I missed your voice as we talked on the way there.
I missed taking Gwen to Culver's for lunch.
I missed you always ordering the fish dinner.
I missed our laughing at all the hilarious old time stories you and Gwen talked about.
Your stories of Boyfriends before you both married were our entertainment and we all laughed uncontrollably as you told them.
I really believe that you're gone.
I love you Frances and, yes, I have to beat you before you say it," I love you more "
Your sister, Yvonne*

*I remember as a kid cousin Frances always had a nice demeanor. I didn't see her much in later years as we moved away from Michigan. I will tell you this; Frances was THE epitome of fashion from head to toe. She was always sharper than a chefs knife! Hair done ✓makeup flawless✓jewelry ✓
👉 ✓ outfit and shoes. I admired how she was always put together. Always. Once my Mom in law was going to a Xmas party at work and wanted to look her absolute best, she asked me what she should buy. I told her to go see Frances Henry at Northland Gantos. She will get you right! Frances picked a beautiful jewel embellished sweater, leather slacks & matching jewelry. They went over to Hudson's to get shoe boots, a scarf and fur trimmed leather gloves.
My Mom in law said she got SO MANY COMPLIMENTS AT THE PARTY! She said when she got dressed, she felt like a million dollars. She never forgot how Frances made her feel!
Rest In Paradise Frances ~🕊️💕
Know that she is well loved and remembered. 💕💕💕
