“Gregory and Marilyn Smith know Gerry more as our favorite plumber than policeman Gerry. He was our plumber for at least 30years. Our sons were small when we met him and they are now 36yo. A very fond/funny memory we have is that he was at the house doing some work and we had hid our childrens toys in the closet. It just so happens that he had to go in the wall inside the closet to do his work. Our sons saw the toys on the floor and of course wanted them. We told them the toys belonged to the plumber who had bought them for his children. Gerry went along with the story, and he took the toys outside with him as if they belonged to him, because of course the boys were watching him and those toys.

Another memory I would like to share is I thought it was great to see Gerry bring his son with him many times when he was doing the plumbing. I don't know if his son picked up the craft or not but he certainly followed in his dads footsteps when it came to law enforcement. I believe he set a good example for his son to follow.

Our sincere condolences to the family, Gerry was a great guy and he will be missed by many.
