“ To my former husband:

Thank you for the love we shared and the lessons learned. You will always be a part of my journey. Rest in peace, Leslie, and may you finally find the peace you deserve. You no longer have to weather the storm. Your love will forever be missed—a void that will never be filled.

“ Officer Bayliss,

You were one of a kind—unmistakably you. You lived as God calls us to live: in service to others. Whether representing someone through the union, comforting a grieving family, or simply being a supportive coworker and team player, you always showed up with quiet strength and deep purpose.

You moved through life with calm confidence, never loud, but always present—always standing for something greater. I will never forget your welcoming spirit when I joined the Henry Ford Police Authority. You made people feel comfortable and loved, and that matters more than words can say.

Your departure came far too soon. I pray your family finds comfort, even if only for a moment, in knowing the profound impact you made. And may they find peace in this truth: Only what’s done for Christ will last.

Rest well, Officer Bayliss. You served well.

“ John was as kindhearted and gentle a soul as I have known. Never striving to be something he was not or to dwell in the spotlight, he was content to serve both his teammates and everyone else around him. I pray that the Lord blesses his family and friends with strength and comfort as they grieve his transition to a place without pain, tears or sorrow.

“ Officer Bayliss was a dedicated public servant whose life was defined not only by his commitment to protecting others but also by the many dreams he carried in his heart. He spoke often of his aspirations in his journey of law enforcement. Though his time was cut short, the dreams he held and the passion with which he lived serve as a powerful reminder of the potential and promise that was lost. His memory lives on in those who knew and loved him, and in the ideals he stood for.

“ I will always remember Bayliss for his intelligent conversations. I would always lecture him and he would say, “I want you to meet my mom because we would get along fine.Lol.” I wish it was on better , happier circumstances but God does things in His own Perfect way. I pray Bayliss is conversing with God asking that He watches over his Parents❤️.
