“ Louie (as his family called him) was the greatest man I knew when we were both 21, and 23 years old. He taught me a lot about life, and put me on the career path that I have been on for the past 40 years. I will always appreciate that, and glad that I had the opportunity to give him his roses while he was still alive. I will always love and appreciate him for being that guy! Rest in Paradise, my dear, I'll see you again... Perez -YCACMH

“ Mr. Brown as I affectionately called him no matter if I knew his first name. I met him when Lamonta was just a toddler in daycare. Mr. Brown always came in so serious but once he seen his son was well taken care of he left with a smile. Lamonta has always been the apple of his parent's eyes and my heart hurts for you all in this troubling heart breaking times. I pray that you find peace in knowing that being absent from the body means he's present with the Lord! Prayers and condolences to Lamonta and Deborah Brown and the entire Brown family.

“ I don't know where to begin you were making such great progress. Starting to walk ,and cook on your own and really looked to be recovering from your initial surgery. Not that long ago you asked me to take you to 8mile and Wyoming for a corn beef sandwich.... Life comes at you quick. Appreciate all the life advice. I'm gone missed you unk

“ Wow, I never thought I'd be writing a memory for you Louie. There are many from when we were younger, but the ones that sticks out most were you piling us in the car, taking us to the Burgandy and Powder Blue (Mumford) for those who don't know. Or our many discussions and debates. Most importantly I'll always remember your laugh and smile. Take your rest my brother, give your Mom a hug from me. Brenda Ray

“ These are some of my favorite pictures of me and my father. I always remember viewing my father like this huge protective giant no matter how old I was. His presence just filled the room he was in. I remember always traveling or going somewhere with my father. And no matter where we went he always wanted to take a picture. I remember when I was younger growing up he would make sure we were dressed alike as you can see. He was always supportive of whatever I did and encouraged me to pursue my dreams with the upmost confidence. He was a great father not only to me but some of my close friends as well. Even though he’s physically not here anymore. I know that he will always still be this great protective giant in my life going forward. Love you forever and always Dad.
