

Dr. Patricia Anne Maryland

October 24, 2025

Dr. Patricia Maryland made her peaceful transition on October 24th, 2025 surrounded by her loving family. The family invites Patricia's friends, colleagues, and community to join them in celebrating her extraordinary life at a public memorial service in Detroit. The details for the memorial service are listed below.

In lieu of flowers, the family invites donations to organizations that were especially meaningful to Patricia. These include:

Health Disparity initiatives through the Henry Ford Health Foundation: <http://www.henryford.com/DrMaryland>

The purpose of this fund is to eliminate disparities in health through enhanced efforts at preventing disease, promoting health and delivering appropriate care. This includes improved collection and use of standardized data to correctly identify all high risk populations and monitor the effectiveness of health interventions targeting these groups.

Advanced Oncology Surgery efforts through Corewell Health Foundation: <https://bit.ly/MarylandMemorial>

Your donation will directly support the critical patient care and advanced treatment programs at Corewell Health William Beaumont University Hospital, specializing in Hepatopancreatobiliary (HPB) and Complex Gastrointestinal

(GI) Oncology. These specialized fields focus on treating some of the most complex and challenging cancers affecting the liver, pancreas, bile ducts, and gastrointestinal system. By contributing, you help fund cutting-edge research, state-of-the-art treatment options, and compassionate care for patients who are facing life-altering diagnoses.

“ Pat was a beacon of light not only on what is possible but how to maneuver, progress and make an impact in a space that is not commonly occupied by a woman. She embraced all those who shared her vision of effective efficient action and work toward improving the health and well-being of those living and working in the communities she served. Sam, Our hearts were shattered and hopes dimmed when we learned of Pat's passing. Of course, not any more than the painful sorrowful sadness and the irreplaceable loss you Jasmine and Dean and the rest of the family are now feeling.

Pat showered you and the kids with immeasurable amount of love and affection that was also extended to us and humanity in remarkable ways.

It is our hope and prayers that the memories of the remarkable times and joyously moments you the kids have, and the family shared together, will strengthen and sustain you all at this difficult time.

Those we love, appreciate and admire, and Pat is topmost, never leave our hearts minds and thoughts, and we all, will continue to live out and share her creed through the love, mercies and kindness she bestowed on us.

May her soul rest in everlasting peace

“ Patty Cakes / Second Mommy,

This was almost impossible to write—but it felt even stranger not to say anything at all. From the moment I met you as a sophomore in college, you took me in as one of your own. You saw how inseparable Yasmin and I were—spending every waking moment together, constantly on the phone, practically living as roommates—and you knew there was no getting rid of me (lol). From that day on, you decided to treat me as your second daughter.

From yelling at us when we got into that car accident—right there in your driveway—to including me in family dinners and plans, you made me feel like part of your world. You kept us grounded and humble, even when I’d suggest the most outlandish birthday gifts for Yasmin and you’d respond, “Absolutely not, Alex... please try again” (lol).

You’ve been one of my biggest fans from the very beginning. When I first stepped into the nonprofit world and landed my first job in development, you had your company support the organization in such a big way that it became my very first “major win.” You always showed up for me—with pride, love, and sincerity.

When my father passed, you poured so much care and comfort into my life, even sending handwritten letters from Florida that wrapped me in warmth when I needed it most. That same love extended to my children—you never missed a big moment. From birthdays to gender reveals and even drive-by baby showers, you celebrated them all. You adored my babies, always begging me to bring them to Florida so you could take them to Disney World (still kicking myself for not making that happen). But your love for them was so clear and unwavering.

Perhaps my greatest gratitude lies in the gift you gave me—Yasmin. My best friend. My twin flame. My soul sister. My person. The gift of her has made me forever indebted to you. And just as I promised you during our last conversation, I will have her back forever—and ever—and then some after that.

It was the greatest honor to be your honorary daughter. You've left a mark on my life that no one can replace—a love that lingers, a light that will never fade.

Signed,

Your self-proclaimed “favoriteeeee girl in the world.” (Alexandra Walker)

Love you, Patty Cakes.

“ . YOUR PRESENCE WAS A GIFT

Pat, from the moment you joined the family, it felt you 'd always been part of it.

There was an unspoken connection and you had a way of making people feel welcome.

There was a warmth in you that drew people to you. You offered support without being asked.

What we will miss most is your quiet grace, your smile. sense of compassion, kindness and your love for all.

Pat, losing you has left a gap that words can not fill. But. we know your presence is still here with us. We will forever miss your visits to Ghana.

You were a Sister -in -law whose life enriched all of ours.

We will always thank God and will also be grateful for the time we had and for the reminder you gave us that beauty. lies in kindness.

Your kindness still. lingers in all the hearts you touched in the family.

We. will forever miss you, Pat.

May your soul rest in perfect peace. Amen

“Pat was an extraordinary person. She a loving wife, mother, a cherished friend, and a remarkable sister. To me, she was not just my sibling, but my confidant, my role model, and my friend. Her presence brought joy, laughter, and warmth into my life, and her memory will continue to do so.

One of my earliest memories of my sister is her love to dance. No matter where or when she heard music, she always broke out with her own original dance. Most of the time it was off beat. 🕺

Pat was also incredibly generous and compassionate. My sister had a way of making everyone around her feel special and valued. Whether it was through her thoughtful words, her acts of kindness, or simply her presence, she touched many lives and made a positive impact on everyone she met.

One of the things I will always cherish about my sister was her unwavering support. She was always there to listen, to offer advice, and to stand by my side through thick and thin.

I am filled with gratitude for the time we had together. While I wish we could have had more time, I am comforted by the countless memories we created and the lessons she taught me. Her legacy lives on in the values she instilled in not only me, but in the love she showed to our family, and in the positive impact she had on everyone who knew her.

Sam, Yasmin, Dean and Emily she is now resting peaceful in the arms of God. We love you and continue to pray for the entire family.

“ We met at the University of Pittsburgh in the school of Public Health in 1979 or 80. In 1982, with doctorates in hand, we moved to take positions in Cleveland, Ohio. What a wonderful time we had in graduate school and our first post-doctoral positions. We published in the public health literature together. We had a ball. We met, cared for and loved each other’s families. We loved clothes. What a great person Pat was in all aspects of my life and others. What a lovely and loving sister Pat was. I still have the announcement of her executive position as COO position at Ascension Health. I will miss her and continue to love her. Lately I have learned how much love and grief are intertwined.

“ Tribute to My Dear Aunt Pat

Auntie Pat, as we lovingly called her, was one of the kindest and most compassionate souls I've ever known. Her warmth and generosity left a lasting impression on everyone fortunate enough to meet her. I still remember the first time I met her in 1999, when she visited Ghana with my cousins—her beautiful children. Those days were filled with laughter, joy, and a kind of love that lingers in the heart forever.

She had a remarkable way of lighting up every room she entered, always radiating smiles and kindness. Her visits every two years were moments we eagerly anticipated—they brought joy, unity, and a renewed sense of family togetherness.

Auntie Pat, your gentle spirit and loving heart will be deeply missed. But your memory lives on in all of us. Thank you for the love you gave so freely. You will never be forgotten.

I will miss your smiles, your “get to the facts” disposition, and your example and inspiration on parenting and spousal pride! You loved Sam and your children dearly, and I appreciate how you adopted me as a Junior brother. Loved your laughter when I remind you that once you married an African you married all African men. I am sad beyond words, but I thank God for the opportunity to meet you and became a friend. Rest well in the arms of the Lord. This was so sudden and so unexpected. “ A Personal Tribute to My Sister-in-Law

She wasn't just my sister-in-law—she was the heartbeat of our family.

On October 24, we lost someone irreplaceable. Her absence is felt in the quiet moments, in the laughter that used to echo through our gatherings, and in the warmth she brought to every room she entered. She was our rock—steady, strong, and always there when we needed her.

Generosity came naturally to her. Whether it was a thoughtful gesture, a helping hand, or simply her time, she gave without hesitation. Her kindness was effortless, her joy contagious. She had a way of making you feel like you mattered, like you were home.

She was the one who remembered birthdays, who made sure everyone had a plate and a place, who turned ordinary days into celebrations. Her laughter—full and unfiltered—was the soundtrack of our best memories. And her spirit, so full of life, reminded us to find joy even in the smallest things.

I will miss her stories, her hugs, her unwavering support. But more than anything, I will miss the way she made us feel—safe, loved, and whole.

Her legacy isn't just in the things she did, but in the way she made us better. She taught us how to love fiercely, how to show up for each other, and how to live with grace and humor.

We carry her with us now—in our hearts, in our traditions, and in the way we care for one another. She may have transitioned from this life, but her spirit remains woven into the fabric of our family.

We love you. We miss you. We honor you.
