“ Today I saw you. You Lying so still my heart stopped. My breathe went away. Then I saw the pictures of the baby and the little boy I loved so.. and I remembered. You were a sweet little boy. Everyone loved you Raymond. When I think of you, I hear your little raspy voice. That brings me solace. You will never know how much I loved you little boy. But I did. Always asking Sanders about you. Your body is not here with us, but your spirit will live on forever in our hearts. God has the last word. Rest Well. Luv you Raymond 💔💔💔💔

“ Never in a million years would I think that I'd be writing this so soon. This is the hardest thing I've ever had to think about, let alone write; to say goodbye to my brother. To say this is difficult, but even that doesn't describe how I feel. For over 20 years, you've been by my side.

My life will forever be changed because of you and your family. Taking me in, treating me like family and providing stability and a foundation when I didn't have any is something that I will forever be grateful for.

Love,

Antjuan aka Red

“ What is it to really say at a time like this. I know you're at peace and can't believe how wonderful the place your in is. Your laid back, smooth, and sweet personality made your presence so unique. I appreciate meeting u at 13 and having the pleasure of knowing u as an adult. It's easier to think of u being saved from this chaos rather than u being gone. Enjoy your peace!

“ *It's ok to mourn and cry
Absent from the body
But my spirit flies high
Hold your head up and look to the sky
And know that I
Have no suffering and pain
And though I've departed
And my wings I've gained
Find peace in memories of me
I hope you smile whenever you say my name
I hope you do everything with a pure heart and know that your good deeds are not in vain
I hope you let go of any past guilt or shame
I hope you knock down every barrier that stands in your way
Do not prolong your dreams
Chase them today
Because tomorrow isn't guaranteed
Do something nice for someone whenever you think of me
And whenever you think of me
Know that I am finally free
I have made it to where we all hope to be Eventually
Spread love , give hugs
Intentionally
Take care of others and yourself too
Be kind , be humble, be generous be you
Be vibrant , be happy, don't let life's worries get to you
Be strong , be proud, to yourself remain true
It's ok to mourn and cry
But let's celebrate the beauty of an angel
That God let the world burrow named

“ It has taken me days to even get the words together to say a tribute, this had been like a bad dream for the entire family. I remember you as this cute little boy with a head full of curls and a beautiful smile, then watching you grow into a handsome young man with that same beautiful smile and chill demeanor. I find myself getting sad thinking about you no longer being here in the physical and I start to cry, but then I think about you being reunited with two of your favorites- Uncle Jerry and Aunt Lille Mae, I know they weren't ready to see you come just like we weren't ready to see you go- but I know just like they always did, they will take care of their Raymond, they were at the gate waiting when you arrived. I could hear Aunt Lillie Mae now- Raymond (with her hands on her hips) what you doing here so soon? I will miss you & love you always Raymond, Auntie Kelly

“ Such an energetic man that was so authentic and full of life. Keimo made everyone around him laugh and smile. I remember my older brother sneaking Keimo into the house to play street fighter and eating noodles in the basement as a kid. One of my earliest memories and even as I got older the way Keimo and I understood each other advanced. I can hear him now saying “lover that’s dumb.” And then we would laugh and argue about something like food, music, or traveling but it was always smiles and laughs. Always a great time when it was me, redd, Keimo and ty too. I love you bro and I’ll always love and miss you. Rest up

“ No words I write could ever say how sad and empty I feel, but one thing is for certain, my love for you will always be there. The most important part of my heart's memory is the day I held you in my arms. A thousand words or tears will not bring you back.

Now you're in heaven, you're with the angels now. They will show you all the love we've showed you here on earth. Rest in peace baby boy. You're will granddaddy and grandma now.

“ Smh, I'm going to keep this short because at the end of the day we both know what we had, still have and will continue to have. I love you to the depth of my heart and soul and really more than that because of the 2 beautiful, funny, smart, and talented little girls we share. We both were flawed and our relationship suffered it's downs but GOD knows we had some great ups. As I think about our last interactions it make me smile to know that you got to spend time with your daughters right before, we put the biggest smile on our baby Raiven face with her hair, we seen you over FaceTime the day before your departure, and we were at a space where our babies seen us be friends and co-parent flawlessly. No matter what our current situations were/are we still shared a bond, a love that was untouchable and unbreakable. I will forever remember you and love you!! 🥺🥺💔💔

You were last person I saw before I went to sleep at night and the first person I saw when I opened my eyes every morning. Our baby will never get to physically meet you. From Penny Godboldo and Ariana IWe were heartbroken to hear of Lil Ray's tragedy. I still feel sick when I think about his precious life gone and I can't help.shaking my head. He was such a beautiful baby and toddler who grew into a special and handsome young man. We have got to stop giving grief to each other. Lifting up the Family in prayer--may God give us the Grace to move beyond this. Sending Lught and Love, "Miss Penny"
