“ I wanted to let you know that I worked with Sheila Anderson for years at Hutzel. When you work with someone so long, they become a part of your family. When a tragedy occurs it feels like I lost someone special too. My heart, my prayers and my tears go out to Sheila and her family. Words cannot express what I feel about this tragedy. It is heartbreaking.

“ He was my confidant and I was his. He would call me at 3 a.m. and vent, cry, laugh, whatever he had to do. He never ended a call without saying “I love you cuz”. I cried a thousand tears over this but I know Cams impact on this world will far surpass his death. He taught me a lot in his short journey and I’m glad I can say he was my friend, my cousin and although his shell is gone his spirit will never die. So as my cousin ascends from earth and assumes his spot I know GOD himself said thy good and faithful child. You were faith over few things and now I will make you ruler over many. Watch over us cuz, we need it now that your gone.

“ Cameron was a gift to this world. I was lucky enough to have him as my mentee for the Southfield Kappa League my senior year. Cam always had something funny to say, kept a smile on his face, and was a beacon of positive energy. Although his light was extinguished far too soon on this earth, I know the love he had for his family, especially his daughter will continue to shine bright thru all the people he connected with in his short time on the Earthly plane. He will forever be missed.

“My life as I were on beaches, I feel like the impressions left in the sand. You can take a journey in life, but over time, even your path, will be washed away. Not even memories of your journey can be found in the sand. If my journey has come to an endless direction were all paths leads to no resolution, then I will walk this path until I am no more. God gives you things in your life, I feel it is to understand you....not to feel it is impossible to accomplish but for you to realize that your heart has many possibilities when it comes to loving someone. I am learning still when it comes to you. I know what I seek may not be in your path, I'm not trying to draw a direction for you to follow, this will be miss leading and only your heart will lead you in the direction you can walk thru your life time. Pain and pleasure will all be bound together on the way, only prayer and blessings can give you faith that your foot prints are still in the sand to lead you back to your love one. I'm praying to God and keeping faith in what I feel in my heart, even if its only in my heart, it will be true to me only, because all others can't and won't understand my love for you. It is very peaceful to be one with a love that make you grow and want to give up worldly things that kept you from seeing beauty as I seen in you. I have opened up to many things with you and loved all of them because it was with you. So if I have to walk alone I understand that this will be my journey from this life on. I wish only blessings and love in your life, ones' heart can never loose when it was shown joy and love in return. Your life has just began...you are home with family.

“ A family is a circle of love, not broken by a loss, but made stronger by the memories. We are forever blessed that God connected us. Words, can't fix your heartache, but those who care and share your loss wish you comfort and peace of mind. May you find strength in the love of family. God didn't promise: days without pain, laughter without sorrow, or sun without rain, but he did promise: strength for the day, comfort for the tears and light for the way. With sympathy, Anderson family I am thinking of you at this sad time and sending love. My condolences cousins. Dennis
