“ To the bereaved Family Of Major Ron McCullough,

Last year I had the chance to spend time with the Major. I had a chance to learn some of his gifts as we explored a small part of Downtown Detroit together on foot, talking and taking pictures along the way, starting from the Riverwalk on Rivard and Atwater to Hart Plaza, the Spirit of Detroit, Campus Martius, and Greektown where we dined shared our opinions and people watched. Major McCullough showed me a deep dedication and love he had for his children and a genuine passion for his other family members. Major McCullough loved exploring the world and painted a picture so vivid I would like to travel so some of the places we discussed. I noticed we shared some of the same interests and will always cherish the gift he showed me which was his zest for life and his thrill of adventure. Major McCullough was a blessing to everyone he met.

May God keep you in the hollows of his hands offering you all the blessings you stand in need of.

“ There was not ONE TIME that Vito ever made me feel like anything less than family. He was such a special person whose humor, love, and acceptance made an impact on my whole family. He made being an "in-law" the coolest thing in the world because it still meant that I was connected to him as family in some way. We will miss him so much. I'm praying for the whole family. I can only imagine how tough it is right now. I pray God sends an unexplainable comfort to you in this time. ❤️

“ Life allows for us all to cross paths with amazing individuals that are authentic and teachers of life. You were one of those people for me, Ron. I am thankful of the opportunity to cross paths with you. A true brother to many. I also admired your dedication as a loving father. You are no longer here in a physical form but your legacy continues to live on in the lives of others that you touched big bro. Thank you for always being you Ron. I am so grateful to God that I was able to see you in 2019 at WVSU homecoming and our annual Alpha breakfast. I am also thankful that God allowed me to speak with you regarding beautiful life changes, like me being engaged and coming into the fatherhood fold. I am always thankful for your true commitment of your brotherhood. Again, thank you for always being you, big brother Ron. I am thankful you are no longer in any pain and sorrow. I know you will continue to shine with that big smile from the heavens. May God continue to look over your beautiful family and all that crossed paths with a blessed/genuine spirit!!!”

“ My classmate, my friend and my Big Brother all rolled into one. Who knew we would grow up together in high school and then also attend the same college. Your jokes, the constant laughter and bright smile are unforgettable. I will always appreciate how you always showed that first Pham love and hit me up over the years when you were home. You always greeted me with "Gimme me Looove, Gimme me Looove Pham!!" We always represented Southfield, before we represented Detroit on campus... and then laugh about it later (when no-one had even heard of Southfield). 🙌
🙌 At any rate, I won't be long winded, but definitely want you to know I will definitely miss you pham. I will continue to show LOVE, just as you have always done. 💕💚💜💛

“ To The McCullough Family

Words could never express how much this hurts myself and my family! We are so sorry for this loss!! My Ohana here in HAWAII sends our prayers for your strength during this time. RON is one of my best friends. Doesn't matter where he was stationed he always made sure I was updated with anything that had to do with LeBron James. Knowing I can't stand LeBron. But Ron didn't care. While in Korea Ron decided to have a custom made LeBron James jersey sent to me along with my 4 Westbrook jerseys. I will cherish that jersey in your honor. We always talked basketball and life. One of our conversations was about how we were late in the game in our 40s..Not exactly In the 4th quarter but were taking our time in 3rd qtr. I'm gonna finsih 4th qtr for us my friend.Funny cause I understood where he was coming from! Thank you my friend for our memories. What we always say!! "SOMETIMES SHIT DONT GO YOUR WAY" FLY WITH ANGELS and I'll see you on the other side my friend!!
