“ Boy did I love Ma. Rose. We met on accident. I worked across the street from her home, and I would see her working in the yard in the summer. I used to think, oh my! How is this tiny woman so strong. I quickly realized that it wasn't so much as her physical strength; but her spiritual and mental strength. Ms. Rose taught me black woman's dignity and class; and I will never forget her because of it! Rest in peace beautiful Queen. You ran your race well, and finished strong! I will always love you.

“ Momma Rose I've known since I was 12 yrs old as a safety patrol and you would get me to go to Mrs Carrie store on Philadelphia everyday. You were that special woman whom I respected so dearly and I will miss you. I'll share the memories of you throughout my years as a yungin and most of all those pictures I have of you. R.I.P. Momma Rose "Mike".
