I'm so sorry to learn of Sherri-Anne's passing. I was planning to attend the University of Detroit Mercy Leadership Development Institute 30th anniversary at the end of the month. I hoped we would be able to see each other since we both worked there as a part of our work study program. She was a bright spirit, hard working, honest and uplifting person. We participated in the Focus Hope walk and facilitated many of the organized workshops around the campus. She was an advocate for social justice. We did a lot of work toward getting students to volunteer around Detroit. She had a beautiful smile and incredible leadership qualities that kept people engaged. She was always full of hope and optimistic. Watching her funeral, it's apparent that she had left behind beautiful memories and a powerful impact on so many people. I wish her family peace and I'm sure her spirit will watch over all of you. Many blessings to all of you and peace to you Sherri-Anne.

“ I was fortunate to know Sherri-Anne. We cooked catfish together for a cooking show at work. It was so much fun and I enjoyed getting to know her better. So sad she has left the world so young.

“ Sherri-Anne, my dear sweet daughter.

Words doesn't seem sufficient or adequate enough to captured how I feel, or how I think Sasha, Dominic and our family feel or will continue to feel. But what I can say is your fierce love and devotion of Sasha, Dominic, our family and your friends are so commendable and is felt deeply. I took notes and will continue to do you justice by making sure Sasha and Dominic is loved and supported as fiercely as you have and would have continued to do.

You possessed such great qualities and made us loved you so much more for them. Your legacy left for your children and your family is truly one of great love, strength, dedication, compassion, driven, purposeful and generosity. You are truly the best multifaceted human.

There is a Jamaican saying that I think describes you. Yu little but yu tallawa.

BigUp Sherri-Anne!

You have certainly, despite all the obstacles and heartbreaks, lived a life of service, fun and worship. Your capacity to do all what you have done, in such a very short time, is appreciated and even though my brain tries to rationalize your transition, I can't help the feeling of a gapping hole in my heart. Our family trips, get togethers and when ever we gather for what ever the occasion will for ever be different. I promise, your smile, your humor, your essence of who you are to us will never be forgotten. I will surely miss our hour to two or sometimes even more of conversations. You live on in our hearts even when it hurts like hell.

I will only have memories, very good ones, to play back and tell Sasha and Dominic. Like the time when I was driving on the service drive and came to a stop light. She was probably about nine or ten. Sherri-Anne said to me, mommy why is that man walking with a white cane. I told her I believed he may be blind. She said to me how is he going to cross the street if he is blind and I said he uses the cane to feel if there are objects in his way and then he decides if he should walk or not. Then she said, can I help him cross so he can safely cross the street. I said yes, (I am still not sure that was right decision I made) but Sherri-Anne got out of the car and walked him across the one lane street and came back into the car and said he was safe now. I told her that was a brave and kind thing to do.

Sherri-Anne you can rest and be safe now. The village you create will continue your legacy and your family will take care of Sasha and Dominic in your honor.

My love and admiration for you will never fade.
