“ Years ago, I was car jacked and beaten unconscious by 25 people at a gas station across the street from where Motor City Casino stands today.

A month later some police officers found it entertaining to chase me down Van Dyke without turning on their light bar. I thought they were some of the car jackers that attacked me previously. They waited until we hit unsafe speeds to pull me over.

When I went to court, I had hand written a 12 page letter of what happened, who I was and what I stand for.

Her read the letter so quickly I thought he was being dismissive. Without another word he dismissed the case. The officers were livid. In reciprocation, I would canvas to help him with his campaign for judge. He tried if being the chief magistrate and he really did deserve more.

When he moved to Illinois I felt like I had a distant relative.

He'll always have my love and respect.
