“ Although I may not have always understood your methods, we undoubtedly had our sibling disagreements and rivalry.

However, through personal evolution and life experiences, I have learned that love is not always expressed through verbal communication, but often shown through actions that offer support and encouragement.

You will be deeply missed, and I am grateful that we had the opportunity to cultivate a more profound and meaningful bond, fostering a deeper commitment and sisterly love for each other.

Your loving sister, Jane or Janie, as you affectionately referred to me.
